

The Life of an Adopted Child

Once there were two women who never knew each other.

One I do not remember, the other I call mother.

Two different lives shaped to make me one.

One became my guiding star, the other became my sun.

The first one gave me life, and the second taught me to live it.

The first gave me a need for love, the second was there to give it.

One gave me emotions, the other calmed my fears.

One saw my first sweet smile, the other dried my tears.

One sought for a home that she could not provide,

The other prayed for a child, and her hope was not denied.

Angel In the Sky
I want to cut so bad,
but that wouldn't make you glad,
it would only make you sad.
Because you were the only close cousin I had.

You were someone I could always talk to,
believe it or not it's true.
You were always blunt on what you said,
you were like a book that I just read.
You were like a friend to me,
as you see.

You were also a role model,
sort of like a genie in a bottle.
You were always true to your word,
and was cute like a tweetie bird.
You would always hug me when I felt down,
even when I fell to the ground,
you were always around.

I don't know what to do without you,
now that you're gone,
I just don't know where I belong.
But I know one thing,
that comes from the king,
He still wants me to do the right thing.
No matter what people say,
you are always in my heart,
still to this day.

But when I heard you died,
No matter what circumstances,
you are still my angel in the sky.

Straying From the Path

Dear God in heaven, to you I pray.
I need your help; I have lost my way.
I have strayed from the path that leads to you,
Surrounded by lies, I cannot hear the truth.

My life has been full of ups and downs,
somehow, somewhere, I got turned around.
This, life I live, is not living at all,
I try to stand, but again I fall.

Dear God in heaven, hear my cry,
in my sins, don't let me die.
To you I look for knowledge and peace,
rest for my soul for my spirit ease.

My sins I pray please forgive,
No longer this way do I want to live.
Dear God in heaven, to you I pray,
I need your help; I have lost my way.

Lord, You Are

We are free to glorify your name,
and never to be put in vain.

If it wasn't for Jesus, we would be alone,
If it wasn't for mercy, we would still be on our own.

Leave the darkness, walk into the light,
And don't be afraid, you're doing it right.

You've been my God through all of it,
Even when I was in a dangerous pit.

Step into the light of grace,
And come into this heavenly place.

I will call upon your name,
And keep my eyes above the waves.

No one even knows your name.

You are our love, even though the pain.

You are never too much to bare,
Lord please hear me, and I'll carry you everywhere.

Mercy, grace, and compassion,
Are the only words with action.

I need the world to see that it's Christ in me,
Now I'm running free.

Come and fill me, so it's you I breathe.

You are the anchor of my hope,
Because Lord you are the only one who is in control.

On My Knees

I'm so tired of the heartache and tears,
Because I've been dealing with it for many years.

I've been trapped in the storm and the rain,
To the point I've been followed by trouble and pain.

So deep down in my heart
I know that I need to regain,
And stop all the foolish games.

But when I had the chance to speak up,
I never took the time, which sucked.

By the grace of God,
I kneeled down and prayed,
that Satan will not ruin me in any type of way.
