

I Heard a Heart Break Today

I heard a heart break today-

Not the ripping sound you expect from those

Zigzag cartoon valentines; or that stomach clenching

Crack from a frozen-over lake. It sounds like that disappointing

Clatter of porcelain hitting tile floor. Nothing devastating- just

Kind of sad.

The Train Came Through Town

The train came through town today

Its low whistle warm,

And it took me back home to moist nights

With the windows open.