

Sadness

You tell me to keep trying
But inside I'm dying.
You see me crying
But I'll soon be flying

I smile for you
they say it's long overdue,
but the sadness in my heart
will tear us apart.

Your heart is stone
For you left me alone.
Time ticking by,
So soon we shall die
without a trace, without a face.

The end sprints ever near
And I cry every tear
Though without a trace of fear
My soul must endear
The ever looming sadness.

My soul now flies
As my heart slowly dies
Too tired to try
To far gone to cry
I enter the everlasting sleep
That nestles in the dark so deep.

I say I'm fine but that is a lie
For I feel as though I'm about to die.
I see you with her happy as can be
And I know that I will never be what you need.

My soul is torn apart
Forever alone in the dark.
You smile at me
And I smile back