

Forever

With every ounce of breath that escapes my chest.

Yearning for a love that's better than the best.

A smile so captivating my heart skips a beat.

Who would have thought I'd be swept off my feet.

By this one feeling, only 5 days known.

Even now my love constantly grows and grows.

A canvas of love, our painting begun

Forever with you would not be enough.

It's hard to explain, what's swimming in my mind.

This incredible feeling, I feel deep inside.

I just want you to know, it's more than you think.

Because without you my darling, I would start to sink.

Without you my darling, in the sea I will drown.

You keep my head above water, so I'll scream it out loud.

Without you my love, I'd be without smiles.

No sunshine, no daisies, tears streaked for miles.

Without you my dear, my face would turn sour.

I'd count my torturous minutes, seconds and hours.

Without you My dear, the world would grow cold.

You are the essence of joy, more precious than gold.

A canvas of love, our painting begun

Forever with you would not be enough.
