Shades of Me

All Grown Up

Keep close to you the child-like wonder that lives within your soul.
See the endless beauty
deep inside your fellow man.
Don't let fear hold you back
dreams are meant to follow.
Run laughing through the warm summer flowers
splash through puddles in the rain.
Wish on falling stars
wishes do come true.
Life is made up of fairy tales and magic
if you love with the heart of a child.

Keep close to you the child-like wonder.
See the endless beauty.
Don't let fear hold you back.
Run laughing through the summer flowers.
Wish on falling stars.
Life is made up of fairy tales.

Never stop believing.

Shades of Me

Celestial Embrace # 1

The stars wrap themselves around the earth in a celestial embrace
They caress the earth and whisper their love
Millenia have taught the stars love isn't a race
The stars wrap themselves around the earth in a celestial embrace
Playfully they love to give chase
They keep sweet guard over their beloved from the heavens above
The stars wrap themselves around the earth in a celestial embrace

Shades of Me

Doors Shut and Footsteps Fade

After the door shuts and the footsteps fade,
I walk slowly forward and turn the lock.
I turn and relive all of the plans we had made.
After the door shuts and the footsteps fade,
Bittersweet memories in my mind replayed.
My companion, the tick-tick-tick of the hallway clock.
After the door shuts and the footsteps fade,
I walk slowly forward and turn the lock.

After the door shuts and the footsteps fade,
I walk slowly forward and turn the lock.
So many nights I've cried and prayed.
After the door shuts and the footsteps fade,
Even now, our love I'd never trade.
The lonliest sound is that clock's tick-tock.
After the door shuts and the footsteps fade,
I walk slowly forward and turn the lock.

Under the Make-Up

The silliest clown
Always wears big shoes
Sometimes for a laugh, he even wears a gown
The silliest clown
Only in private does he ever show his frown
No one ever notices the faint smell of booze
The silliest clown
Always wears big shoes
