

Thunder Rolls

Hold onto the weight my wayward son
Singing peace upon my mind when day is done
And drowning out the echoes in my head
Then staring in to death like momma said

Give in to the world and watch it burn
You can't escape your body, can't return
Cease to live in loneliness and betray yourself to fates foul kiss

And the thunder rolls around
Lightning strikes the ground
When tired eyes and limbs hit sleep
Fend off the demons my mind keeps
And the thunder rolls around

Sitting, sadly, slowly watching life
Its pages turn
Frozen, freezing, frigid when it's finally
Time to learn

And the thunder rolls around
Lightning strikes the ground
When tired eyes and limbs hit sleep
Fend off the demons my mind keeps
And the thunder rolls around

Weeks don't turn to days
You cant rewind time
Hold on to my dependence, glimpse divine

And the thunder rolls around
Lightning strikes the ground
When tired eyes and limbs hit sleep
Fend off the demons my mind keeps
And the thunder rolls around
