

FLASH POETRY

The Lord of the Rings Dance

He never met Gandalf and Frodo passed him by He never found a precious ring couldn't even find his tie

He never set out on a quest throughout Middle Earth
He overcame a handicap and less than noble birth

Tolkein would've been proud of him maybe C.S. Lewis too He lived a very simple life just like me or you

Even with his two club feet he'd put you in a trance Everyone would "flatley" say
"You should've seen that Hobbit dance!"

Creative Differences

Zeus: So, how long do you guys think it'll take to pull this off this time?

Vishnu: Not in a million years.

Buddha: Not in a billion years.

Jehovah: I can do it in seven days, six, if I don't use union labor.

Epiphany

Shaking his weary head side to side

Don Quixote turned to his long-suffering companion and friend

Sancho Panza
and sadly admitted:
"Damn! They're only windmills!"

Poor People's Math
an anti-poem

Jerry dropped his cookie on the kitchen floor.

Wally looked lovingly, looked at it some more.

"10-Second Rule," said Wally, and gobbled it on down.

"I thought it was only three,"
said Jerry with a frown.

"Not when you're hungry."

Quid Pro Quo

She gave me a CD single and I sent her a CD album

Then she offered me
two singles
And I sent her two albums.

Today
She visited my home and counted
my albums.