The Lighthouse

Looking out at the night sky
The tower stands like a torch
The waves crash to and fro
The tower and stars give more light

From the lighthouse
You can see far away
Into the distance
As the waves, they wash away

The sea spreads over far and wide
It needs light to illuminate the waves
When before there was darkness
The lighthouse, and stars bring light, before the day arrives

From the lighthouse
You can see far away
Into the distance
As the waves they wash away

The light it shines
Into the distance
The light it shines
It comes from the Lighthouse

Sacrifice

As I look out at the final horizon
The dawn signifies calm after the commotion
It seems this will be the last dawn I lay my eyes
Soon I'll leap over into another dimension

So this is the end, this is the end of my life
To save the world, I must give my own life
As the prophecy said, my gift is the sacrifice
My heart is in the burden
My gift is in the Sacrifice

There is a choice
Only one of us can live
For my sister, my life is what I must give
It seems this is the only way out of this fight
In this moment, I know this is right

So this is the end, this is the end of my life
To save the world, I must give my own life
As the prophecy said, my gift is the sacrifice

My heart is in the burden
My gift is in the Sacrifice

Lilalove

I heard there's a girl
That's so strong and tough
When others would have given up
From the ashes, she rises above
And when she fights, she fights for love

Lilalove is strong and tough
From the ashes she rises above
And when she fights she fights for love
Fights for love

Her eyes have electricity
Because her soul has a fire
When I looked into her eyes of this girl,
You can see another world

Lilalove is strong and tough
From the ashes she rises above
And when she fights she fights for love
Fights for love
Fights for love

Lilalove is strong and tough
From the ashes she rises above
And when she fights she fights for love
Fights for love
Fights for love

Lilalove, from the ashes rises above
Lilalove, from the ashes rises above