

Erika, my love

As beautiful as the morning sun,
That rises up- and shines away the dark,
As do you, the shadows of my heart be done,
Illuminating that my which love, embarks,
You are an angel, wings of the brightest white,
I do succumb to loves eternal hold,
Bringing bliss in the darkest of night,
Perfect, simply put, truth be it told,
My dear, words expressed cannot fully show,
My everlasting love for you- you alone,
That which I feel, that now you will know,
My heart and my soul, to you has been shown,
Let me express you one last binding words to your heart be true,
I'll love you forever, this I promise unto you

Why doth beauty shine through eyes of white
For thou certain love is held between two hearts
How doth true passion last timeless night
Honest fate balanced true lover's parts
Thou radiant star guides loves longing path
Amongst vast fields of fantasy perused
Doth separate thou instil the lover's wrath
Two hearts intertwined, an eternal prelude
Alas! Forget me; my heart cannot take
For my touch yearns for your embraced desire
Thou asketh me, a mother to make
Our love doth burned by heaven's fire
If thou stay true that which felt by gentle hands
Thou souls merged together across distant lands

Oh what passion beheld in the kiss,
You and I together forever more,
Our hearts now melt together in bliss,
Our love for each other will surely soar,
Life has put us each through a test,
But need be, to find what love hold be true,
To strive through the seamless rest,
As we climb towards skies- forever be blue,
The way I feel towards you and you towards I,
Like a dream become real; hearts greatest appeal
Destiny has been swift to time passing by,
Our fate comes together, as that a holy seal,
So with that be it known between you and I, forever your tender kiss,
I shall know as you should to, true love to the heart- never miss

Passionate Love

As I lay down upon our bed, I hear your breath- unintentionally mislead
You are relaxed and in peace as you smile up at me.
I look into your eyes, deeply into your soul,
I know what true love is, finally I am told.
Not through words but through actions,
Not through words but through passion,
As you lay their willingly, I grasp your hand ever so gently.
I kiss your neck as I feel your heart beating,
Slowly at first like a gentle stream, than faster and faster- too fast, it would seem.
But the faster it beats, the harder I try,
The faster it beats, the more we're intertwined.
It's as if we're no longer two rather we're interlaced as one.
It's as if we're no longer two rather we're fused into one.
You are my love, my everything- my day, and my night,
You are the shining stars that show me the light.
That show me the way to what's good or bad,
That show me the way to what's truthful or false.
Time seems to be still, I have not a care in the world,
As long as you're with me, it will surely not turn.
As I look into your eyes once more, deeply into your soul,
I now know what true love is- it is you, that I know.

Fire

As I look into your eyes once more, deeply into your soul,
I now know what true love is, it is you, that I know.
I know now what is laughter, I know now what is joy,
You're my fairy tale ending- I'm your glittering white knight.
Whom fights off the dragon and rescues the girl-

Becoming her salvation, her everything, her world.
Although in the real world, it is never that clear.
Although in the real world, there are much too many tears.
Although in the real world, things tend get in the way-
When you and I are together, time stops- blissful embrace.

You are my one and only- my reason for life,
As we lie side by side, a peaceful good night.
You are my sun, my stars, and my moon,
Till death do us part is far much too soon,
Our love is eternal- like an everlasting rune.

Words don't do you justice- your beauty does bloom,
Into a wondrous flower- an exotic cocoon.
They say they don't get you, but I get you quite well,
Your mystery and darkness- quell my love that I tell.
But you already know this-this you know quite well.

For this love that I speak, comes from your heart as well.
As I look into your eyes, past the exterior, into the mind.
I see, and I feel, and I hear, and I taste,
Your lips against mine- sealing our fate.
Forever and ever- I hardly can wait.

So as you look into my eyes, I open the path to my soul
And let you in- I draw down the bridge,
And as you walk in, I greet you- hello,
Forever starts on this new day-
Eternal compassion regardless of societal dismay

