

UNDER THE SUN

Drying under the sun with you it felt like the whole world owed me the salt on your skin.

THE PROMISE

There's glory in trying to keep a promise given at a different time by a different you

Sunday, August 18th

Take care of your day

Whisper to it softly as in the ear of a whimsical lover who just woke up

Let it know what you want

Sweet talk to it -and I promise you can do with your day as you please right here, right now

Treat it gently as you move on and time will be your friend for it's what you do with each day that can make or break you

Caress your day, it's all you've got you -frustrated and swearing in a traffic jam you still alive
