

Taken

I am running through the jungle,
There are leaves and vines everywhere
Trying to leave, deep down I know that there is nowhere to escape,
I am roaring as loud as I can trying for someone to hear me.

The jungle is a maze, with twist and turns and dead ends.
Animals scatter in fear of me.
Boulders on the ground not letting him get passed;
I am scared, frustrated and don't know what to do
In one flicker of a light my life got taken away.
I am stuck can't get out I know I am being captured,

He doesn't know what is on him it is heavy, pushing him down to the ground, he looks paralyzed.
He is struggling his mane is getting caught
We got him out of the jungle and now it is dark.
Now we are making him do work that he doesn't want to do,
He doesn't want to figure out what would happen if he disobeyed.