

COLORS

BLUE

Blue the color
Of a lake
Turquoise, maybe steel

Blue the sunny summer sky
Blue the color of my eyes

Bluer blue I can't imagine
On a sunny afternoon

On some days we're feeling blue
But what shade?
Indeed
Aqua, navy, turquoise, cobalt
Royal, teal, aquamarine

Blue blood
Blue chip
Feeling blue

Monday morning blues

Blue in the face
Out of the blue
Singing the blues, indeed

Dark blue in the ocean deep
Dark blue before we go to sleep

RED

Red warns us of danger
Code red
Red alert

Red the embers in the fire
Red the funeral pyre

Take the red eye home from work
And you'll see red indeed

Red the color of my blood
But is that truly red?
Crimson, scarlet, cardinal
Maybe cabernet instead

Don't spend in the red
Don't eat too much red meat
Don't give them a red herring
A red letter day indeed

Roll out the red carpet
Paint the town red with me

Did they red light your project?
That means it's time to stop
Your face turned beet red
From the bottom to the top

Red tape means it takes more time
Red the lover's valentine

BLACK

Black the color
Of my coffee
Wakes me up each day

Black sheep in the nursery rhyme
The Black Art on the seamy side

Blacker black I can't imagine
Black hole in the distant sky

Black eyed peas sit on my plate
But don't they also sing?
Ace of spades and my new blackboard
Even though it's green

Shades of black you can't imagine
Midnight, pitch, obsidian
Coal and jet and inky black
All the depths you find it in

Black Monday brought the Great Depression
Such an awful slide

Blackout
Black tie
In the black

It's there in black and white

WHITE

Don't shoot till you see the whites of their eyes
White as the driven snow

Attend a white wedding
Don't tell a white lie
And don't write one on the whiteboard

Take a white elephant
To a white-tie event
And watch the reaction, oh my!

Driving through a whiteout
You look white as a sheet
Even chocolate that is white
Indeed

Whitewater for rafting
The egg white has less fat

White hat hackers doing good
Prevent things from going bad

The white coat on my doctor
Ivory, cream and alabaster
Eggshell, pearl and porcelain

There's an iceberg ahead
Wave the white flag at the end
