

Anger to Inspire Words:

You inspired me to pen, place moments on this page
That I can stop my tears and spew out all my rage
The wind is blowing gently the sounds it makes so calm
But I am filled with sorrow
Mourning deeply for my loss in palms
Birds sing, they chirp to gentle skies
Yet I bellow out my tune
That feel like deafening cries
I wept while you barked
Your orders I should obey
Clicking my heels I float to the ground
Not knowing how to breathe if only for today

Where Love Stands:

I am solid
A sum of all my parts
I hit the bullseye with ease
A target on my heart
I glide in shadowed stillness
So I can stand as one
Not knowing what my will is
Or how to walk not run
My cup is full of riches
Experience is my guide
I turned on all my switches
So I could take a ride
I faced my past to conquer it
In present or future I will soar
For if I listen intently
My love is at my door

Family is not a Business:

You are the wicked
The one that bestowed upon me my name
But family you are not
So I play your game
I jump when you say leap
For promises I must keep
Foolishly thinking my life was my choice
Yet you shot up my fears to extinguish my voice
Your instructions were quite clear
You will be my puppeteer
So go on and pull my strings
Destroy my sanity with your hands
I may never learn what my future brings
Or how not to bend to your demands

Could you take back what you said?:

I wrote for hours upon hours
As your harsh tone belittled my power
I sat on the couch
Then tried not to pout
As I pondered how you made me cower
I reluctantly did what you commanded
So maybe once more I would not be reprimanded
I stood here in the dead of my silence
As the cold thoughts draped over my skin
It dawned upon me to shock
That you were going to win
The whispers of hell screamed loud in my ears
So I looked to my right, to my left
To see if I disappeared
My reflection stared back out at me to let out a scream
So my head hit the pillow, perhaps to dream

Love is a Four Letter Word:

The three most powerful words in the English dictionary I love you.

I one letter

Love four letters

You three letters.

Eight letters all together.

There are many words we can find in our language that are single words with more letters.

Commercial for example, something we watch on television to advertise a product, a way to discuss how real estate is categorized too.

So why when we put these 8 letters together to form such a simple yet complex phrase do they mean so much to us?

We speak them in moments of sadness, in waves of passion, even in heated arguments.

We speak them when truth be told we just don't mean them at the present time. Such as an I love you too when someone has spoken them to us.

We dream the person in our life will one day whisper those beautiful words to us even before they have ever been said.

I sometimes ponder all of the people I have spoken those words too and think if I really felt that way.

We love people for various reasons, some by choice, some by circumstances, some by accident I guess.

The three most powerful words in the English language can make or break a day like no other I have found.

Eight letters strung together to form the most intense emotions known to all of mankind.

I, a single character that represents oneself.

Love, four common letters put side-by-side to express how you feel,

You, three parts of a 26 set, that are referring to another, other than yourself.

I love you, when you say it your heart is sure to smile eternally with an undying flame.