

Unwoven -----

This dream I see
A newborn memory,
Could be my second chance.

The garden lies
Just outside,
A dream come true at first glance.

Seeds left unsown
A lifetime let go,
Regrets I'll never erase.

Sheltered within
As the storm swirls round,
I don't want to leave this place.

A lull in the rain
Dulls the pain,
Brings silence to the thunder.

The walls crumble down
As I fight to remain,
Buried beneath the covers.

Is this dream
Just touch and go
Or something we can share?

Is it real
Or just for show,
Some sugarcoated nightmare?

Unwoven dreams
Aimless screams,
All echo in the void.

The life I long for
Has come and gone,
A truth I no longer can avoid.

I won't deny
The scar it grows,
A hollow heart so wrought with fear.

The winds howl my name
But they're to blame,
Without them you'd still be here.

The Deep End -----

So here we are
At the end,
Teetering, at the edge of something
We can't comprehend.

The water's calm
So they say,
But ripples grow, amidst the undertow
As the children play.
Don't hide yourself away...

Just dive.
You'll never know,
Never know how the deep end feels
Till you take a step inside.

You'll never know,
Soon enough what the depths conceal
Watching as the waters run dry.

Don't let your feet
Get too cold.
You'll never win, confidence worn thin
Weathered to the bone.

Just listen well
When I say,
You must stand tall, at the heart of the storm
As the torrents rage.

You'll never know,
Never know how the deep end feels
Till you take a step inside.
Just dive.

