

Frequency and Heat Exchange (a villanelle)

All that exists gets rearranged
And all permanence eschewed
By frequency and heat exchange

Nothing ever stays the same
What dies today will be renewed
All that exists gets rearranged

The only constant thing is change
With entropy all life imbued
By frequency and heat exchange

Every victory that we claim
Each endeavor we pursue
All that exists gets rearranged

The only thing that still remains
That which cannot be subdued
By frequency and heat exchange

This principle that's preordained
To from the old bring something new
All that exists gets rearranged
By frequency and heat exchange