

Peace and Happiness

Let's take a moment and think of a time;

A time where you felt relieved and happy to be alive;

The time you felt all your worries and problems disappear before your eyes;

The time you realized God hasn't left you side;

The time where you took a deep breath of fresh air and was thankful you survived;

Survived through the heartache and pain you felt inside;

Let's take a moment and think of a time;

A time where you were happy, happy to be alive.

Promiscuous?

There was this girl who always wanted to feel loved;

She never felt loved growing up;

She never felt loved from her parents or siblings;

She wanted to know the feeling of love;

It was her mission to find this feeling;

A feeling she never felt before;

She went looking around for love, in all the wrong places;

She ended up falling for every guy who told her "I love you";

She would spread her legs and welcome them inside;

Only to be left with heartaches inside;

Some say she was able to move agile with men she would meet;

Her excuse—she was looking for love;

Is she promiscuous? You be the judge;

But all she wanted was love, love from all the wrong places.