

Heavenly

The words you sing unto my soul sound so very sweet Each sighing breath and spoken words are begging to repeat

The love that comes from deep inside your great big heart is true
It is so hard to find something like what I see in you

I spend my days and nights just thinking about your touch
It is you that inspires me to want to love so much

I'm waiting for the moment that I will steal your kiss
And when you are away there's so much more of you I miss

Someday when we're not apart I'll spend my time with you I'll watch you sleep beside me and ask God if it's true

Each day as I am dreaming you linger in my eyes
Your smile warms my heart like a rainbow in the sky

Just looking at your face makes my soul alive for days
What I would do for you is pure in more than just one way

I've never felt this way before but I know it's true
I hope you will never forget just how much I love you

Deceit

Begin as one

Moving slow but strong

Quickly becoming

Nothing can go wrong

Your lies arise

Covering all your sin

Plainly reusing

Your innocence to begin

Ending is real

Mourning to be mistaken

Really enraging

My youth was taken

Covered

A world covered in white so much contrast from within.

We live in such a world of death and moral sin.

We continue to move on with each new passing day. Not sure where there's a break in time.

Our eyes covered; eyelids like snow blankets over musty grass

that has new life.

Each season we die only to begin again.
