

For Mines

POWER

I started to choke on the victory I gained
This is your worst nightmare
And I could never imagine being in your position Conflicted whether to call it truce or stand on top of dead bodies
Proudly dig my flag into them
Looking down on you
Your head sunken into pale palms
Even the Gods heard your wails
Your screams of agony
Should I act like I care when I'm not phased at all
I have yet to flinch - fix my eyes to shed a tear

I've created a massacre
I don't realize my own destruction at times
So much blood I have on my hands
The innocent caught in the crossfire
You were on my court and you betrayed your queen
You'll be branded as a traitor forever
Hot iron will mark your downfall
A fiery path of pillage
Led by you

You must understand IF your life should be spared
Nothing can lick these wounds
Soothe the lost of love
Resurrect the fallen
The pain you feel doesn't compare to my lineage I uphold
You will NOT end my reign

The fires were out
The smoke has cleared
I felt the wind calm down to a breeze
And in this moment the chips stacked up for me just right
I hold the power

Guidance

Trees be my god my preacher my father
Let the birds be my tour guide
Led me to river
River swallowed me whole
Let me confess my sins
While fish show me a new way
Guide me to the surface
Fill my lungs only with pureness
The wind swept me off my feet into your arms
Tighter I say
Pull me deeper below your surface
Sun promote my growth
Rain please allow my growth
So the trees will envy me
Bees spread my seed
My knowledge I hide under my leaves
Vines insert their thorns inject me with your sweetest venom
Projected my downfall
Only to be kissed by Darwin
Stronger new larger than life
Allow my roots to become your home
Nourish me my lil doe
Treat me well
Protect me
Love me like your own
Fawn be brotherly
Family gathering using my flowers as the centerpiece
They'll dance the prettiest of dances
Only to feast and than leave me
Moon rise and fill the sky with gloom
Allow those fireflies to be stars for the night
I'll allow them to pick me up
Help me fly
Lead me to my awakening
To the tree of life
Trees are you listening
Listening to my prayers

Will you help me?
Will you bless me?
Will you baptize me?
Are you listening?

Cravings

Hella sweet
I can smell it's love I can it see the beauty
Taste like love with cinnamon
Got the devils food on my fingertips
Sounds like slithering
Can't see the rainbow past your cloudy ways
Tainted
Painted in black
Sprinkled with acid
What it taste like?
How much you willing to put into this?
What you got to offer?
Go put your best costume on I'll serve you, you're venom on the gold you stole
Sniff it
Do you understand your potency?
What you're carrying around?
That much power and evil

Drink up
Drink all of it
Taste what I taste
Feel the way your insides start to dissolve
Taste like love with cinnamon
Right?
You hate it don't you
Are you seeing clearer now
Has your clouds lifted
You gonna taste this cake that I made
What I brewed up over night
You're going to feel what I feel
And I bet you crave it

Mouth watering
Got that twitch
You feening for it
Aren't you
Yea I see it
I see that glance
You got that twinkle in your eye

Pick your jaw up off the floor
I'm sorry

Show me

I'll ask you to show me how you love
Show me how far your back will break
Show me how big your heart can swell
Reveal your beauty
Uneven imperfect beauty
Open your soul to me
Reveal the process of metamorphosis
Teach how you weave your cocoon
How pushing me away will somehow make you more beautiful than before
Teach me how to be patient
To understand being imperfectly perfect takes time
Takes courage
Makes you free
Makes you believe your wings can help
Makes you believe in your own wings
Your dreams
Your own words
Show me how to bring beauty to the word
How to recreate my nightmares into a masterpiece
Turning dark into light
Only using beauty
Yourself as an example
Show me how to be beautiful

To my Darling...

It rained all day
Sometimes I wish the rain could wash sins away
It becomes a reset button
Forget your worries
A true breathe of fresh air
Why can't the sun go hide for while
It can have its shine a different day
Stormy days bring big puddles and wet clothes
Forces you into tight spaces
Cozy up close to strangers
Make sure you get whiff of his cologne
If rainy days really washed my sins away
I'll walk past the temple and make a left to the mosque
Ask allah and Jesus for their forgiveness
I'll walk to the river
Give Oshun offerings
I hope that gives me a lil more lead way
Will it wash 1 layer away

It was stormy night
I sat on the porch and watched it past
The thunder brought light to the world
Sparked my interest for love
I wonder if I climb to the tallest tree will I become an angel
The thunder struck me 3 times as I humbly repent
The bright light will appear to me
I'll ask "I know we haven't talked in a while but what else do you need from me?"

It was stormy morning
And for the first time I saw a hummingbird
It dodged every droplet so effortlessly
Was it trying to hide
I crept down the stairs
Opening my body wide embracing every pellet
I felt all the weight lighting from me
Floating

I dug my toes into the dewy grass
I felt centered for once
And just like that
The rain stopped
The clouds lifted
And sun thrives upon us
It smelt like jasmine and lemons
I could breathe again

I'd walk the whole world searching for rain if I could feel that clean again
