

CLASSIC MODEL

It's important, it seems, to stop and take stock
To see what repairs might be needed.
So that's what I did, and here's what I found
As I carefully checked all the details:
No matter how much I polish and scrub
Its finish stays dull and quite mottled;
The engine won't start as fast as it did;
Its balance seems quite misaligned.
The heating and cooling are slow to respond;
Its upholstery is soiled and cracking.
And dribbling leaks leave puddles beneath
That embarrass me lots when I'm out.
The exhaust system seems to be out of control,
It's surprisingly loud and offensive.
Gas miles are down; all the fuel lines are clogged;
The shocks have done too much absorbing.
Its antenna won't rise nor will it fall
Automatically now as it used to;
The filters need change; an overall lube;
It coughs and it wheezes and often misfires.
The warranty's gone, a long time ago,
So it's hard to assess this old wreck.

But that's quite enough of talking about me!
Now let me describe my Toyota!
