

I

Family

everyone needs caring deep in the soil
seeds had to be watered for flowers to show family, everybody needs one that love keeps you going when i was down and broke i got a room

blankets for the cold and a roof for the storm asked me nothing, just keep on going now out of my shell
i am trying to take flight

Everyone needs somebody who cares we all come from roots after all tied to the seed
when watered
can blossom
to beautiful flowers

II

This World is for the Stars

there will be darkness everywhere to show the light in the sky life is so honest

Here, they are worshipped and remembered
crowds gather around them stories of their victories this is for who this world was made you were scared and didn't believe the darkness within you the biggest enemy you have is yourself there is a battle to be won

III

Race

you are the driver
not the color of the car you can go anywhere you dream of going

like a flock of birds flying over the heavy winds of the Himalayas to reach the rich fertile soil of India you travel and along your way you meet other travelers and will be tempted by companionship beware
they are not the color of their cars but the drivers
they might want to go another way do not lose sight of where you want to go do not let go of the wheel

IV

The Temple

She spoke of a hidden temple the journey is not an easy one

she said in the temple lies a door open it

and all the answers unleash what this world is
and why we are here

the truth seeker leaves the world that he knows and crosses the ocean
then walks the long desert alone
only then will the temple appear she said

the journey is inside

V

Turn On the Light

bring light to the world
thats why darkness here for you to rise above it and shine
even if death was cursed upon you there was life
even if pain was a home you grew and met that smile again
everything else is just shadow
