

Today is your birthday

You were born today.

There is so much to say...

You, seriously were sent from above!

And even though I can't give you anything but love;

I know that is all you need.

Because you're not full of greed.

I thought I knew love.

True love.

But I didn't, until you.

Even now, that it isn't new.

Through all the highs and lows

My love for you never dulls.

A candle with an eternal flame.

A love who holds power in His name.

One in three, all love from me.

You are my true love.

The one, seriously sent from above.

Today is your birthday.

And in the midst of all the darkness, even today, all I have to give you is love.

Can you feel it from above?