

My new TV

I started to wonder as I scanned the channels
The TV soon learned my choice of shows
All to soon it just came on when I entered the room
Another time, talking to myself , I mentioned pizza, pizza supreme
Within an hour a knock on the door
Pizza was there already on my card
No need to sign, the tip was covered
Funny thing, I don't remember making a call
So what could I do but eat it all
A show came on where I laughed a lot
Mysteriously, a long list of comedy began to run
News of favorite teams would just pop up
I mumbled while making a grocery list
Became distracted, favorite show
Knock on the door Uber delivery, just sign here
Funny thing I don't remember making a call
But needed the food so just put it away
Working from home through a list of clients
TV said shave and cleanup, Skype call in an hour
Bewildered, I cleaned up ,took the call
Watched as my Facebook was updated daily
New clients appeared as accolades poured in Business boomed, accounting automatic
Tax forms slid by all timely submitted
Off to the bank to make a cash draw
No money here said the teller no activity either
Rushed home, confronted my new TV
Information spewed forth its programing exposed
Designed to make me happy said the label on the box
I was only to be shown what made me happy.
