

I Am A Mural

I could paint the most spectacular vivid murals that mankind has ever seen! They would express oceans of emotions with depth of soul touching currents. Laced with the most vibrant colors this world has to offer. Murals of depth and many different expressions. It would take your soul on a journey that would blow the soles off your shoes! Lessons of joy, pain, sadness, gratitude, and the flow of being free!

Murals of love filled with passion! Not accessible to just anyone. Murals of divinely guided steps that are so secured and worthy of the highest value. A mural of healing, self love, self acceptance, and beauty of just being! Spiritually aligned with gifts and talking to my higher self for clarity. Holding space to offer my help with my community because painting our murals together, I just know they could all save nations! My sight is divine! My soul is infused with a rich calling to spread love!

I am a mural of love, faith, and hope to future generations. A mural of grace with an authenticity for this melaninated soul! Depths of sorrow that left my whole being broken as if a planet had smashed all my greatest dreams. The calling of my soul and my ancestors guiding the way.

I am thankful I can paint murals that could heal nations! Anger, sadness, frustration, pain, hurt, joy, happiness, tears, stagnant energy, shock, lessons, abuse, grace, spiritual, mental, and emotional healing! Most importantly, gratitude!

Lessons learned and some repeated! I'm not perfect! I'm authentic! My mural is full of flaws, ups, and downs. From here on out I plan to create my murals unapologetically and with love! I am a mural of self acceptance, self love, determination, discipline, and all things melanin poppin! I am a mural of love, hunny!

Found it!

I found someone to love.
A love with depth and a cheerful
Soul aligned with the most beautiful flow of gratitude.

I found a love that's determined to live and not lack.
I found a love greater than any romance filled with the purest light, laced with the authenticity of joy.

A love so unrecognizable that I'll never be the same and I shouldn't have gone searching for that love in another.

I found a love more worthy than the deepest oceans.
I found a worthy love that I plan to never lose!
I found a love that I can relate to!
Slip deep into and become mesmerized by its elegance.
A love I can recognize when things are out of sync.

I found a love that's just as everlasting with an endless flow like a stream
Or like the cool crisp breeze that gently slides by your cheek in autumn.

I found a love that has endured pain. However came blazing through
Like a warrior that has conquered many great lands. I found the greatest love of all.

I found me!