

I Miss You

Laying in bed while my mind clutters.
Moonlight shines through the window
Casting shadows on the walls.
My eyes cast their gaze over the shadows
And for a moment my mind entertains the shapes.

My mind breaks free as I stare at the stars.
I listen to my heartbeat and feel its thumping.
Close my eyes and I see your face
And in this moment I am transported.

My heart beats faster.
A smile creeps across my face.
I can feel your touch, so soft and comforting.
I can hear your voice, so calm and soothing.

My blankets become your arms wrapped around me tight.
My pillows become your chest that I lay my head on.
My heartbeat has become yours that I listen to and feel.
In this moment I am happy in the most pure and organic way.
I am safe and untouchable, floating on the highest of clouds.

In the simplest of words....tonight you're on my mind.
My mind takes the reality and submerges it into my memories.

Smooshing them into all this world I'm in.

I realize it's because of three little words....I miss you.

In Pieces

I'm sorry I'm broken
With pieces of me missing.
I'm not whole and I never will be
For I've lost pieces each time I was hurt.

I never meant to break you too.
Living a life in whole is new to me.
Distorted view on life and love.
My world shattered yours on impact.

I'm picking up the pieces
Putting you back together.
Because after you've lived broken long enough like me
All you know is how to live in pieces.

Love

What is love anyway?
Can someone explain if they may.
Some may pray to see a better day
When love has led them in a strange way.
Some will stay while others run away.

Maybe love is just a myth
Sweeping us all in the ocean's drift.
Like throwing a stone in settled water to see a rift.
We would walk the country's width.
Tired from the ground we would lift
Just to find the one to be with.

Love can be suffocating inside.
Like breathing in carbon monoxide.
You think your heart committed suicide.
But it has not died.

You need to open your heart wide
And let me inside.
I know you have cried.
But baby, you're my pride.

When I'm with you and you with me,

People all around can see.
I don't treat you like she
And my love has no fee.
Our love is like birds flying free.
Flying high over the ocean and sea.

I know you ask, "But can it be
That love was made for you and me?"
The answer is this, you will see.
Never alone shall you be.
I'm down on one knee.

It's together forever baby. This love was made for you and me.

Blank Page

Sometimes I feel like an epic fail.

This is my life and I can't post bail.

The train has run off its rail.

The mast fell down and the boat won't sail.

My life is at a standstill and I'm going nowhere.

Can't make anyone proud; that's rare.

I feel like going on a rampage; a tear.

But there's no point when no one will care.

Can't ever do anything right.

Therefore, it's not worth the fight.

Took off a chunk bigger than I can bite.

Choke on it and die I just might.

To leave this world at peace.

I will just cease

And won't leave a print or crease.

Lost with Open Eyes

The bed is growing too large
Or am I just shrinking?
Shrinking into my thoughts and feelings.
All alone and nothing but quiet.
I'm at home but feeling lost.
Locked all the doors but not feeling safe.
I close my eyes and see one face
Yours.

Those brown eyes fixated on my face.
The same ones I can get lost in.
That smile that makes me warm all over.
Those lips with the gentlest of kisses.
The ones I can't get enough of.
I open my eyes and am alone.
All of this is what I miss.

The bed growing uncontrollably.
I'm alone and confused.
Still lost in the familiar place.
Far from being safe.
Reality is too much to chew.

Wrap my covers tight around me.

I close my eyes and see one body

Yours.

That chest large enough to lay on

Listening to your heart beat.

Arms wrapped around me.

Keeping me close and warm.

Now I am home and safe.

Legs intertwined in knots.

Making us one instead of two.

Fall asleep in the dreams and bliss

Because I am with you.

Happy and warm where I belong

Because you have found me.

Transported to my world

Because that's where you are my home.