

LeBron James in the Making

Who wants to become big and tall?

Who wants to dribble a basketball?

I wonder to myself, "Can it be me?"

That's all; that's all.

Who wants to have some shooting skills?

Who wants to learn many different drills?

Who wants to know them all?

I wonder to myself, "Can it be me?"

That's all; that's all.

Who wants to exercise all the time?

Who wants to drink Lemonade with lime?

Who wants to play even in a hall?

I wonder to myself, "Can it be me?"

That's all; that's all.

Be it a day, or be it a night,

Someone is always ready for the basketball flight.

He plays with all his might,

So, his future is always bright.

He stands as tall as a wall.

I wonder to myself, "Can it be me?"

That's all; that's all.

Some dreams are big; some dreams are small.

Some dreams talk; some dreams give me a call.

I have a dream; I want to be the next LeBron James.

That's all; that's all.
