

Where Were You?

where were you when i was kneeling and begging at your throne?
when the wounds bled out in the waiting room when the fourth tire was slashed when lightning struck the phone lines i never heard a peep out of you then and i am beginning to believe that i shall not hear you now i am alone